Hi! I am an all-rounded front-end developer and I've been building websites professionally for over 10 years. I specialise in responsive UI development using HTML, CSS and JavaScript.

I've worked in scrum teams and built many mobile-first, responsive, adaptive web experiences using the latest web-development tools, written with good, clean & maintainable code. I write pixel-perfect CSS (mostly using SCSS). I also do some UI Design and enjoy working with designers building beautiful & state-of-art user interfaces together. I firmly believe in minimalistic design and minimal code. Less is more :)

I have successfully delivered projects for several small and big names all over the world, working on full-time basis, agency work and also as a remote freelancer. To name a few -
